MR. HYDE WAS FOUND AND HOW HE MADE ESCAPE.

BY NEWSPAPERS WENT BACK TO NEW YORK.

NAME OF HYDE AND PLAYED HERE WITH HIS HIDE AND THE NEWSPAPERS WAS SEEKING.

DAYTONA, Jan. 16—Charles H. Hyde, no longer the missing chamberlain of New York, but is here in Daytona and ready to answer any and all questions concerning his mysterious disappearance and tell of his escape from the houseboat in the canals of Florida.

While Mr. Hyde's wife and children are today with Mr. and Mrs. John Wiswell on the houseboat Stop-Awhile at Daytona, Fla., still trying to give out the impression the chamberlain is on board the vessel, Mr. Hyde is at his office, smiling and greeting his fellow officials about the city hall.

Mr. Hyde arrived in New York City at 4:55 o'clock Sunday afternoon and went direct to his hotel. He showed he had worried considerably, but he took everything calmly, posed for the photographers, answered questions freely and made no attempts to conceal anything or dodge the interviewers.

When the train pulled in at the Pennsylvania station and he climbed down the steps of the parlor car he saw his houseboat clothes. The news of his approach and arrival had spread rapidly and an immense crowd had gathered at the station to get a glimpse of the man who had sneaked away from his houseboat near Daytona under cover of darkness and heavily armed. The crowd immediately surrounded him and he smiled and waved his hand at the people as he fought his way through the crowd and climbed into his auto.

He said he was very tired and had come back to attend to business. He declared he had no idea there had been so much clamor over his absence and said he had never promised the legislative committee he would remain in town.

Mr. Hyde said he would answer all charges and questions in his own way and at the proper time.

Charles H. Hyde, chamberlain of the city of New York, who has been missing from his office for eight weeks, and who has been diligently sought by the courts, New York city officials and the various New York newspapers, was driven from his hiding place in the houseboat Stop-Awhile in the canal just above the head of the Halifax river by representatives of the Daytona Daily News, and by this time it is known he is in New York explaining about his absence.

The search for Mr. Hyde and the houseboat down the canal from St. Augustine by the newspaper representatives, which resulted in his being compelled to leave his hiding place and return to New York because further concealment was useless, is one of the most interesting pieces of newspaper work ever pulled off in this section of the South.

It has been known for some time that Mr. Hyde was missing from his office and home in New York, but the first intimation that he was in this part of the country came when newspapers in New York wired representatives of the Daily News that he was probably on board the houseboat Stop-Awhile, which had left St. Augustine Tuesday. Instructions were sent to get to the houseboat, see Mr. Hyde if possible and learn why he had left New York and when he expected to return.

Thursday morning a Daily News representative chartered the speediest motor boat he could secure, made a fast trip up the Halifax and about eight miles up the canal, where the Stop-Awhile was found stuck in the mud. It was at low tide and strong efforts were being made to release the big craft by the pilot and captain when the little motorboat bearing the newspaper man nosed up to the bank alongside the houseboat.

First One On Board—
When the newspaper man boarded the craft he was met by Dan Smith, brother of the executive secretary to Mr. Hyde, who promptly stated that Mr. Hyde was not on board and that his whereabouts were not known to the members of the boat party. Permission to visit the lower deck and the cabin was denied, but Mr. Smith was visibly excited and confused, stating that Mr. Hyde had left the boat at Jacksonville, then changed his statement to that Hyde had left the boat at Beaufort, S. C., and finally admitting that Hyde had boarded the craft at Jacksonville, but immediately gone ashore again.

The circumstances pointed so strongly to the fact that Hyde was on board that a fast run was made back to Daytona and this information sent to the New York papers. At this time a special staff man for the New York World appeared on the scene, chartered another boat and started up the river to find the Stop-Awhile and, if possible, to get a talk with Mr. Hyde.

Nothing was seen of Mr. Hyde and again it was denied that the missing chamberlain was on board the boat. Hubert B. Swope, the World man, is personally known to both Mr. Hyde and Mr. Smith, neither of whom appeared, and the statements that he was not on board were made by John Wiswell, father of Mrs. Hyde. Mrs. Hyde and her two daughters were all seen on the boat, giving further evidence the chamberlain was somewhere within the vessel.

The World correspondent returned to Ormond to wire the developments to his paper, and from the time he returned to the Stop-Awhile Friday at daylight until late Saturday evening the World man and Daily News representatives, working in conjunction, kept constant guard of the houseboat to see that nobody left the vessel and that no communication was had with the outside world.

Boat Comes South—
In the meantime the vessel had been released from her position in the canal and floated some eight miles down to near the head of the river, where she again struck a mud bank and was held fast. Captain Ellenwood, who was passing in the Dixie, was hailed and employed to pull the larger boat off the bar. Efforts to release the boat were ineffectual during the day and Arthur McDonald and his Odd Times, who had been engaged by the newspaper men, was also pressed into service to try and float the vessel at high tide at midnight Friday.

These efforts also were ineffectual, but Captain Ellenwood succeeded in pulling the boat loose during the forenoon Saturday. The Stop-Awhile was taken in tow by the Dixie and brought to Daytona, tying up at the central bridge about 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

During all this time the boat was constantly watched by the newspaper men, working in relays, and it was positively known that no person had left the boat, and glimpses had been obtained of some man using every effort to keep out of sight every time one of the press boats draw near the houseboat. As the Stop-Awhile was being towed to this city by the Dixie she was constantly circled by the press boats, first by one and then by another, all the time a constant fire of questions being hurled at Mr. Wiswell, Mrs. Wiswell and Mrs. Hyde every time any one of them came close enough to the railing to be within ear-shot above the chugging of the boat engines.

Snapshots of Boat—
At the Ormond and North bridge draws a number of snap shot pictures of the craft were taken by the newspaper men, but all members of the boat party managed to keep out of sight of the kodaks.

Positive denials were constantly made by Mr. Wiswell and Mrs. Hyde that the much-sought chamberlain was on board the boat, and under pressure of continuous requests from the New York newspapers for news of Hyde, preparations were made early Saturday evening to begin filing telegraph stories to the newspapers that Hyde was still on board and refused to be interviewed.

From the telegraph office here word was sent all along the line to place two direct wires into commission between Daytona and New York, the telegraph editor on every morning newspaper in New York was informed of what was coming. All district superintendents of the Western Union along the line took personal charge to see that no breaks were made on the two direct wires, two fast-acting operators took their places at the keys in the Daytona office and every thing was ready for the newspaper men here to begin sending their stories through.

Tip From St. Augustine—
At about this time a tip came from St. Augustine that Hyde had been seen in that city Saturday morning and the work of running down that tip was begun at once. Further developments confirmed this tip. It was at once seen that the only manner in which Hyde could have escaped (Continued on seventh page)

ADMIRAL IS FORCED TO RESIGN. REFUSES TO COMMIT SUICIDE AT SUGGESTION OF OFFICERS.

ALTHOUGH FORCED INTO RETIREMENT IT IS SAID BARRY WILL HAVE TO FACE COURT MARTIAL.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16—Rear Admiral Edward Barry, commander of the Pacific fleet, has been forced into retirement by the officers because of a scandal affecting his moral character.

Although Barry has applied to be placed on the retired list he will probably have to face a court martial. The scandal is said to be similar to that which ruined Prince Phillips in the famous "round table" expose.

The petty officers are said to have reported the offenses to the fellow officers of Barry, who are said to have offered him the alternative of committing suicide, even sending him a revolver, which he refused to use.

Barry is a native of New York and 62 years old. He is a brevet officer. After a hurried consultation between Secretary of the Navy Meyer and other high officials of the navy department, Admiral Barry was placed on the retired list today.

President Taft and Secretary Meyer wished to avoid further scandal and there may be no court martial. Rear Admiral Evans has been placed in charge of the Pacific fleet.

A LIMIT ON YOUR POSSIBILITIES.

No person on earth can place a limit on your possibilities, but it is equally true that a growing account in our bank will increase them. Remember that one dollar in a good bank is worth more to the community than five dollars in anybody's pocket. Do you keep your money hid at home? If so you do wrong to take money out of circulation for it was made to circulate and not to hoard, and when kept in circulation is the life blood of trade and good prices and you do yourself and the community an injustice when you block the wheels of circulation. Money placed in our savings department draws interest day and night. You will be surprised how big a dollar will grow in a few years when you fasten the interest to it which this bank pays. If your name is not on our books it will give us pleasure to put it there. A bank account will give you a prestige you may never have enjoyed before. Why not start one today? This bank has progressed with the times. Its methods meet today's requirements. It solicits your accounts on the basis of meritorious service.

TWO MEN ARRESTED ON A CHARGE

SANCTION FOR RACES IS REFUSED.

JACKSONVILLE GETS DATES FOR LAST WEEK IN MARCH.

QUESTION OF WHETHER MEET SHALL BE HELD HERE EARLIER IS NOW UP TO SUBSCRIBERS TO FUND.

The question of whether Daytona will have an automobile race meet next spring is now entirely up to the people who have subscribed their money to finance the meet and the matter will probably be settled within the next few days.

Definite word has been received by the Florida East Coast Automobile Association that a sanction for a beach meet to be held in Jacksonville the last week in March has been granted and there is no longer any possibility of Daytona securing those dates for a meet. The reason the sanction was given to Jacksonville was because the Jacksonville people raised a larger amount to finance the meet, raised it earlier and made application to the A. A. A. before application was made by Daytona.

If the people who have subscribed to the fund for the races want a meet held here earlier than the one to be held in Jacksonville the Florida East Coast Automobile Association will go ahead with the preparations for the meet and will make application for a sanction for those dates. Every effort will be made to make it the biggest meet ever held here and the strongest efforts will be made to establish records which can not be duplicated during the meet to follow at Jacksonville.

It is said that the tourist season will not be over at that time and that trouble might be experienced in accommodating the crowds which would come to the races, but it is considered that extra efforts should be made to handle the crowds because of the splendid opportunity offered for publicity for the city and the beach.

The matter will be brought to the attention of the hotel men at their meeting tonight and it is probable some action on the question will be taken by the organization.

ALDRICH IS COMING TO SOUTH.

RHODE ISLAND MAN IS ILL; TAKES REST TO RECUPERATE.

SENATOR HAS BEEN SUFFERING WITH GRIP AND LEAVES FOR SOME UNANNOUNCED POINT IN THE SOUTH.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16—Senator Aldrich of Rhode Island left today for unannounced southern points to recuperate his health.

The senator has recently been suffering from the effects of an attack of the grip and is not recovering very rapidly. It is not known how long he will remain in the south.

WANTED AT GAINESVILLE AND TAKEN TO JAIL

TWO MEN AND WOMAN ED BY HANGING MEN IN HUT ON VOICES OF SHERIFF.

To answer a charge of kidnapping, two men arrested here Saturday night and taken to jail Sunday evening by the sheriff, Alchan Adams, F. W. Futch, alias W. W. Futch, J. C. Ulmer, a woman, who were taken here, and who is supposed to be the wife of Futch and a sister to the man who was left here by the sheriff.

The charge which the two men will be compelled to answer at Gainesville is the passing of a forged check and an attempt to win a general swindle game. On the forged check they are said to have secured $255 from the First National bank at Gainesville.

On information received from Gainesville the two men and woman were taken into custody here Saturday afternoon, the two men being locked up in the city jail and the woman being allowed to remain in liberty.

The three came to Daytona last week Saturday, rented a house in the woods at the west end of the city, and Tuesday morning they were taken to the small hotel where information received by Monday that the three were closely watched Saturday, when they were placed under arrest to be held here until the arrival of the sheriff from Gainesville.

The schemes by which the three are said to have obtained money in Gainesville is an old swindle game, which is frequently worked in various parts of the country. Another in Gainesville the men deposited a small amount of money in the bank and began drawing small checks against the amount. At the same time they are said to have opened an account at the grocery store, paying for their purchases with checks on the First National bank. As the small checks were promptly cashed at the bank the groceryman supposed a good sized sum was on deposit in the bank and continued to cash the checks without hesitancy.

One of the men is said to have gone to Thomasville, Ga., and mailed back a check for $225, the cash for which was secured by the one man left in Gainesville.

A coop of twelve chickens was purchased from a groceryman by the name of Sanders with the understanding that the chickens would be paid for next day or soon, and this was the purchase which led to their apprehension and arrest in this city.

The trio suddenly disappeared from Gainesville, and the bank, which is insured against such losses, promptly notified the insurance office in New York, the company sending a Pinkerton detective by the name of W. B. Fitzgerald to trace them.

It was learned that the coop of chickens had been shipped from Gainesville to Jacksonville, consigned to F. W. Futch. At Jacksonville it (Continued on page four)

By L. C. DENHAM.
One of Daytona's crowning glories is its incomparable beach. No one who has ever set foot upon its smooth, packed sands; no one who ever pedaled a bicycle over its expanse; no one who ever drove a swarming pair of horses and listened to the popping of their steel shoes upon its asphaltum-like face; no one who ever steered a high-power automobile down the broad stretch of wave-washed and sun-packed sand but realized that it is a world better, a world-wonder. Go stand upon this wide speedway and see the happy souls fit by in joyous mood, and answer whether this is not one of the seven modern wonders.

The Placid, Pellucid Halifax River. Where think you is water with more picturesque surroundings? Nearly a mile wide, fringed with tropical vegetation, artistic cottages with roomy verandas looking out upon her bosom gamey food fishes in countless numbers beckoning, as it were, to those with rod and reel; her bosom flecked with duck and coot and snowy-winged sea birds, which sit about as if for the sport of bobbing upon the waves; that lubberly old white-headed pelican pouch a fat mullet, and that fish hawk struggling upward with his floundering load he snatched from the water.

See the beautiful launches, spick and span, with hampers and lockers bulging with refreshments, both solid and liquid, ready for a cruise upon the beautiful surface. Take out your field glass and sweep the river from Ormond bridge to Ponce Park light house, then say whether the Halifax isn't a thing of beauty and a joy forever, and one of the modern wonders.

The Enchantingly Picturesque Ridgewood. Ridgewood avenue is upon the crest of a broad ridge, straight as the crow flies and the wide spreading branches of the heavy-trunked live oaks extend their giant arms across the magnificent vista, forming an arch, and from these extended arms great festoons of Spanish moss sway as the trade winds from the tropic seas fan them. Looking straight ahead down this white shell street one has the impression of a fairy path with African draperies, but as you move along and cast an eye first to the right and then to the left you see distinguished cottage homes in the most delightful settings.

See the glistening leaf of the grand magnolia which nature has varnished as no artist's brush ever could; and the cabbage palms with their burdens of showy fruit and swaying palms; see the lovely holly with its exquisite berry; see the climbing vines run riot in the trees; see the cryptogamous forms which gain a foothold on the great oaks and stately palms, and surely you will join in the chorus and say that this is a world wonder for beauty.

Surpassing Beauty of Our Cottage Homes.

No one of Daytona's attractions, perhaps, commands more nearly universal attention and praise than does the artistic cottages. The owners of these charming villas hail from every corner of the country and they bring their own architectural plans and build upon them, and, as the architecture of one section of the country differs from the architecture of another so do our homes differ in outward appearance and structural beauty from one another. There are no monotonous rows of strikingly similar buildings but the eye, as it sweeps by, is treated to a kaleidoscopic change which keeps the mind wondering, "What next?"

It is not only the exterior of many of these homes which rivets attention; within they are models of convenience, and the finishing and furnishing give evidence of the elegance and cultivation of those who worked it all out. Indeed, it is the interior arrangement and artistic furnishing and shading, more than the exterior appearance that gives a surpassing charm to Daytona homes. This feature justly merits prominence as another wonder.

Streets and Pavements the Most and Best.

Why the Architect of the Universe chose to give Daytona the most admirable, the most picturesque natural setting of all the cities of the South is not revealed, but that such is a

"What did he want?"
"Why—er—it seems he's a little bashful. He asked for your daughter's hand over the wire."
"He did, eh? Well, the next time he calls up tell him if he will direct me how to send a hand over the wire I will try to accommodate him."—Chicago News.

fact must be apparent to the most superficial observer. With such lavish wealth of natural beauty it became an easy thing for the hand of man to give the finishing touches which have wrought out the colors and outlines of the big picture.

Man did all this in the laying out of the streets with their wide margins of parkage. The entire city headlines a great park, with driveways intersecting, miles upon miles of driveways so good as to attract motorists from all over the continent.

And as for the pavements, pavements that look and act like granite—where else between the eastern and western seas are so many miles in proportion to inhabitants? The pavement question stands with the street as one of the chief drawing cards. Till some unheard of place reports more and better, Daytona throws down the gauntlet to the world.

Squirrels, Flowers, Birds and Fruit. Whatever one's shortcomings and however indifferent or even callous one may be to many things, the mere mention of "flowers and squirrels, birds and fruits" will send a thrill that is reflected in distended pupils and pricked ears.

For every visitor with a spare goober there is a bunny ready to come and accept your gift. He will sit bolt upright and know into the meat, casting furtive, saucy glances at you meanwhile.

Flowers. Usually fresh and blooming the year 'round, you are reminded of Goldsmith's couplet where Smiling spring its earliest visit paid And summer's lingering blossoms are delayed.

In one yard roses of variegated hues predominate; another household has a penchant for the poinsettia and the premises are aflame; another is hidden in a jungle of tall cane. Variety is the spice of life and here is where you find it.

The birds flit in, and with their joyous notes help to give fullness and symmetry to the picture.

As for fruits, choice citrus fruits, Daytona yields the palm to none for quality and quantity per acre. There are scores of citrus groves in proximity to the city, branches bending to the earth with their burdens of luscious golden globes, which for beauty, proficacy and all desirable qualities would truly astonish you. The Fastest Autos and The Finest Out.

The seventh world wonder, do you ask? Come, whether from Missouri or from Maine, from Kalamazoo or Timbuctoo, and you will be "shown." Here is where the world's record for speed is broken with every recurring season. Autos, the biggest, the fastest, and the finest are on daily parade and the big show is as free as the pure artesian water from the thousands of flowing wells. It is a continuous show with a constantly shifting scene.

Everything goes, from a 2-horse power up to a 200-horse power, and all degrees of speed from a canter to a two-mile-a-minute clip. You will probably catch the spirit, when you do the roads and the beach are yours. The Florida sunshine is free, the balmy ocean breezes are free, the birds and squirrels and flowers are free, the sparkling fountain water is free and you will have to go down into your wallet only for coin for auto, and bed and board.

This is no fanciful picture; it's all here. It is drawing other thousands and holding them enthralled, it will charm and hold you. Come and see.

State of Florida, and especially the State of Deland, is one of the most beautiful college buildings in the world.

The city has a population of about 10,000. Deland Hall is one of the most beautiful college buildings in the world.

The grading school offers a ten years' course, and the building which it occupies is newly furnished throughout, and is one of the most commodious and best equipped public schools in the State.

The trip from Daytona to Deland is made by automobile in a little over an hour, and there are many pretty drives in the vicinity of the county site. A good road leads to Deland Springs, five miles, a historic spot, where 60,000 gallons of water bubble from the earth every minute.

From Deland automobiles go south to Osteen, 18 miles, on shell and marl roads; the St. Johns is crossed by ferry near Osteen and cars can then continue to Sanford and Orlando by hard road. There is a shell road from Deland to Orange City, five miles, and a good road from Deland to Lake Helen, a like distance.

The principal attraction around Orange City is the many handsome golden orange groves. The town is supplied with water said to be the purest in the world, another attraction to visitors. It is at Orange City that passengers over the Florida East Coast Ry. transfer to carriages and drive to Deland. The town is surrounded by land peculiarly adapted to the cultivation of citrus fruits.

Surrounded by several pretty lakes and guarded by lofty pine trees is Lake Helen, a winter resort of no little importance. Camp Cassadaga, a spiritualistic camp-ground is situated near Lake Helen and at this place several hundred people make winter headquarters. A large lumber mill and the largest brick plant in the South are located at Lake Helen.

"This," says Hayes, "was an invitation which I feared, but now that it had come I knew that it would be unwise to decline it. The expression of thanks was one of the few in their language that I knew, and I made the most of this. They laughed heartily when I said koyenak in reply to their invitation, and immediately a not very beautiful young damsel poured some of the contents of the pots into a skin dish, and, after sipping it to make sure, as I supposed, that it was not too hot, passed it to me over a group of heads. At first my courage forsook me, but all eyes were fixed upon me, and it would have been highly impolite to shrink. I therefore shut my eyes, held my nose, swallowed the dose and retired. I was told afterward that it was their greatest delicacy—a soup made by boiling together blood, oil and seal intestines."

A short distance west of Port Orange are the remains of the old Danielson sugar mill, a place that is visited every year by hundreds of tourists. One time all the country west of Port Orange, surrounding the old mill, was a vast indigo and sugar cane plantation. The mill was operated extensively in those early days but has been in disuse for forty or fifty years.

That was many years ago, when the primitive corn broom was the only device had to clean her and rugs. The L Sweeper has Running so easily that a child can operate it, the BISSELL glides over your carpets and rugs, lifting out of the nap all the fine dust and grit that is never gotten by the corn broom, confining same within the pans, instead of scattering it over the furniture, draperies, etc. Once you purchase a

ARRESTED AT MIAMI. MAN WANTED IN DAYTONA FOR ROBBERY HERE.

BELIEVED TO BE MAN WHO STOLE COAT FROM OTTO WEH-
NER AND BROKE INTO HEN-DRIX HOME.

In the arrest of Ed Hufner, a young white man about 21 years of age, at Miami, it is believed Sheriff Dan Hardy of Dade county has captured the man who is wanted in Daytona for stealing a coat belonging to Otto Wehner on the night of December 26th and the man who broke into and rifled the home of Mrs. P.
A. Hendrix on Myrtle avenue the following night.

Hufner is being held at Miami on some charge and Marshal Gore has been notified of his arrest. Investigation is being made by the Daytona officer to learn the nature of the charge on which he is being held at Miami and if possible the prisoner will be brought back to face the two charges of theft and burglary
here.

Since the two "jobs" done here last month the movements of the young man have been traced by Marshal Gore sufficiently to convince the officer that the prisoner is the man wanted, and every effort, if he is brought back to Daytona, will be made to convict him on the charge of breaking into the Hendrix home.

The coat was stolen from Mr.
Wehner on the evening of December 26th. Mr. Wehner had gone home from the store that evening and was working in his garden for a short time before supper, having taken off his coat and hung it on a chair on the back porch. When he went into the house for the evening meal he left the coat on the porch, and when he returned the coat was gone.

Marshal Gore was informed of the theft, and his suspicions were aroused that the theft had been committed by a young tramp, whom he had seen hanging about the west part of town in the woods.

The next evening this same young man was picked up at the corner of Beach street and Myrtle avenue for riding a bicycle without a light and the bicycle was taken as a bond for his appearance before the mayor in the morning, a search revealing no money on the man.

As the marshal left the young man to put the bicycle away for the night the fellow turned west on Myrtle avenue and, it is believed, went directly to the Hendrix home, which he entered.

Mrs. Hendrix was absent at the time, but returning a few minutes later she caught the burglar in her bedroom, just in the act of placing a number of pieces of jewelry into a case, which he had in his hand. The man had deliberately gone into the house, took a lamp from the kitchen table and made his way to the bedroom on the second floor.

As Mrs. Hendrix entered he gave one glance at her, turned to the window, kicked out the screen, jumped to the ground and ran west on Myrtle avenue. Marshal Gore took up the trail at once, found he had taken to the woods and later went to Ormond, where he boarded a southbound freight train, wearing the coat stolen from Mr. Wehner the night before.

Following up this clue the marshal sent word to all towns along the East Coast to be on the watch and apprehend the burglar if a trace of him could be found.

The first definite word of his whereabouts was a telegram from Sheriff Hardy, received by Marshal Gore Saturday night, in which it was stated Hufner is under arrest and being held at Miami.

A warrant was sworn out Monday morning for his arrest on the charge of stealing the coat from Mr. Wehner and this has been forwarded to the Dade county sheriff. If the charge against Hufner at Miami is not sufficient to secure conviction and long term sentence he will be brought back to Daytona on this warrant and then tried on the charge of breaking into and robbing the Hendrix home.

Hufner is said to have worked one week in a poolroom in this city, but quit his position with the remark that he could make a living in an easier way than by working, and that he proposed to make the tourists pay for his living.

rived Friday from Fort Plain, N. Y., and are guests at The Ivy Lane for but did not come south last winter.

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Bryden, nolia, arrived Saturday from Milwaukee, Wis., and are again at that house for the winter. Mr. and Mrs. Bryden have a large circle of friends in Daytona, as was evidenced by the number awaiting them at the railroad depot.

Mr. and Mrs. Harmon D. Swita and Harmon, Jr., arrived Saturday evening from Schenectady, N. Y., and are at the Saratoga Inn for the season. Mr. and Mrs. Swita were visitors to Daytona two winters ago but were prevented by illness. They brought their touring car with them.

AFTER BRAVE FIGHT FOR LIFE DEATH CONQUERS.

MRS. W. S. RODGERS, WHO HAS BEEN CRITICALLY ILL FOR SEVERAL WEEKS, DIED SUN-DAY MORNING.

Mrs. Emma S. Rodgers, wife of W.
S. Rodgers, died Sunday morning at the home of her mother, Mrs. F. M.
Davidson, after an illness of several weeks duration.

Funeral services were held at the residence this morning at 10:00 o'- clock, Rev. Dr. McGrath, rector of Grace Episcopal church of Ormond, officiating and the remains were placed in the retaining vault in Pine-wood cemetery.

Mrs. Rodgers, who was but 36 years of age, was well known and had many friends in this city and vicinity, having grown to womanhood
in Daytona.

She was married to W. S. Rodgers in this city about ten years ago, this continuing to be their home.

Mrs. Rodgers' health has not been good for some years and on several previous occasions her life has been despaired of, but she was of brave spirit and strong will which as-isted her recovery from former illnesses and sustained and prolonged her life at this time.

The husband and relatives have the heartfelt sympathy of their many friends in this bereavement, the second they have suffered within a brief period.

The beach has a width of 300 to 500 feet and can be used from two hours after until two hours before high tide, thus giving an average of seven or eight hours for automobilists some part of each day. Seabreeze and Daytona Beach each have a permanent population of approximately 1500. Sanitary ordinances are strictly enforced, streets and sidewalks are well kept, and new streets are being opened as fast as the increasing population demands. Besides hotels and boarding houses there is ample cottage accommodation for all winter visitors in both towns. All the attractiveness of Seabreeze applies to Daytona Beach, the two towns being so similarly situated. The development of Daytona Beach has been fully as phenomenal as its sister on the north, and each year there is a substantial growth. The great sand dunes have been leveled and handsome homes have been built for both winter and all-year-round occupancy.

Beauty and the Beast.
 A well known churchman was visiting New York, accompanied by his wife, who is as beautiful as her life mate is homely. They were walking down Broadway one afternoon, and the pair attracted much attention. One of two young "sports" evidently thinking to attract the favorable attention of the churchman's wife, in an audible aside remarked that it was another case of "the beauty and the beast." Quick as a wink the husband turned and, as he swung his right to the speaker's jaw, scoring a knockout, said, "I am a man of peace, but I never allow any one to call my wife a beast."

Generous.
 Teacher (sternly)—Johnny, what is the matter with your eye? If you and Willie White have been fighting again I shall give each of you a whipping! Johnny (with the victor's generosity)—Yes'm. But you needn't mind about Bill. He's had his.—Exchange.

It is not only the traditional and overworked editor who uses the traditional and overworked paste pot. No, ma'am; not at all. Unjournalistic, or, at any rate, nonjournalistic, women have taken to the paste pot 700 strong in New York, where an army of that magnitude sallied forth the other day, armed to the teeth with brushes and paste pots. They became nonunion or, anyhow, unaffiliated billposters for the time being. They worked manfully, though in a ladylike way, after all, for there wasn't a single backbite or innuendo. When they got through their day's job and returned, a-wearyed and unmaimed with paste, to the headquarters of the Women's Political Union—there, now, they do belong to the union, after all—at 46 East Twenty-ninth street, the American metropolis was distinctly and decidedly Pankhurstized from Stove Brodie's old place in the Bowery to Kid McCoy's bar in West Thirty-eighth street, from Fifth avenue's source to Washington heights. Pankhurstized, did you ask? Yes. The charming but determined face of Miss Sylvia Pankhurst, English suffragette militant, was pasted and posted all over New York, announcing in big display type that Miss Pankhurst would open her American campaign in behalf of votes for women at Carnegie Lyceum Jan. 6. Miss Pankhurst is an able lecturer on her favorite topic.

Fifty Years Ago Today.

 President Buchanan refused to surrender Fort Sumter to South Carolina and ordered Major Anderson to hold it at all hazards. King Wilhelm of Prussia created a war alarm in France by appealing to his generals not to indulge in illusions, but be prepared to vanquish or perish. Twenty-five Years Ago Today.
 De Lesseps, promoter of the French Panama canal, predicted that the canal would be finished in 1888 and "the inauguration take place in 1889 at the end of the rainy season."

 Second Debutante—H'm! No; I haven't received an invitation.

A Waterfall in the Air.
 On the road to the Falls from Honolulu, in Hawaii, is a waterfall that never reaches land. A thread of water leaps from the cliff a thousand feet in the air, but before it can gather force and carry itself to the bottom of the declivity the hungry northwest wind, hurtling through the pass, picks up the streamlet and wafts it away in mist.—New York World.

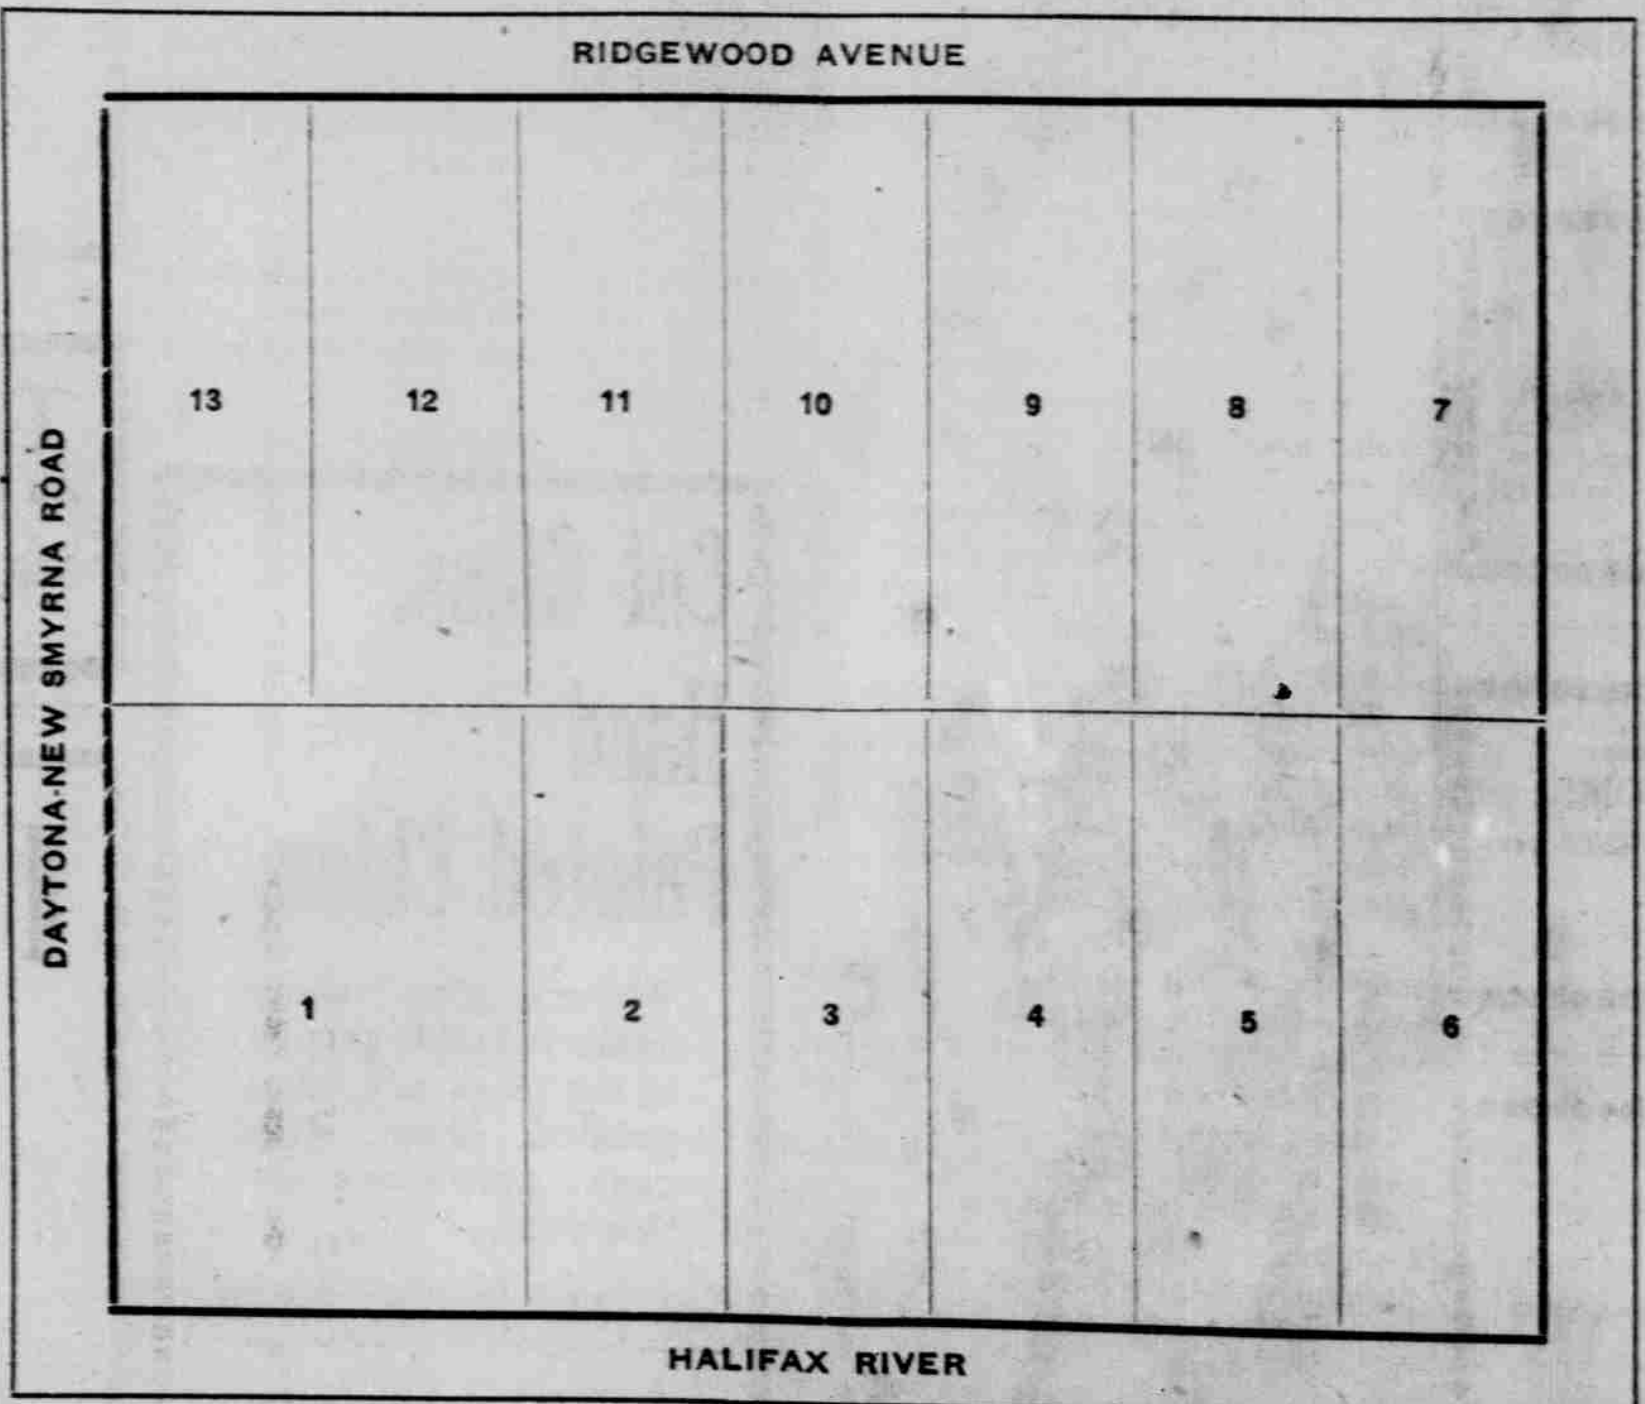

Orlando has been the scene of a most extraordinary and unusual event. A large number of people, including many of the most prominent citizens, have been gathered in the city for the purpose of discussing the question of the annexation of the Hawaiian Islands. The meeting was held in the city hall, and was attended by a large number of people. The speakers were all in favor of the annexation, and the meeting was a great success. The annexation of the Hawaiian Islands is a matter of great importance to the United States, and it is hoped that the meeting will result in a decision in favor of the annexation.

Houseboat Still Here—
The houseboat Stop-Awhile at- ... tempted to dock at Roots' dock when ... she arrived here Saturday afternoon, ... but no arrangements could be made, ... so she was towed to the Central ... bridge and tied up, where she re- ... mained all during the day Sunday. ... Some repairs must be made to the ... houseboat before she can proceed ... on her way to Palm Beach, and ar- ... rangements were made Saturday for ... some plumbing work to be done on ... the boat today.

HUNTING CABIN CRUISER
SUSAN B. SOUTH BOUND
The hunting cabin cruiser Susan B. ... of New York, arrived from St. Au- ... gustine Saturday afternoon and tied ... up at the Conrad dock to remain for ... a few days.

The Susan B. is a good seaworthy ... little craft and made most of the ... journey south in the open sea. The ... voyage was a rough one and at one ... time she was twenty miles or more ... off shore, being thrown out of her ... course through the diverting of the ... needle of the compass by a lighted ... lamp being placed too close to it.

She was brought south by Capt. ... Thomas Cheiks, with John F. Hassen ... as chief engineer.

At St. Augustine she was joined by ... her owner, William R. Nelson, of ... New York, and his friends, Charles ... and Edward Thomas of that city ... and Charles Keeper of Hoboken, N. ... J., who are cruising with him to ... Miami and other points south.

Mr. Nelson is a personal friend of ... Charles Walters, also a New Yorker, ... who spends his winters in this city, ... and is now a guest of Orange Villa.

The Susan B. is 32 feet in length ... and 12 foot beam and has for power ... a 15-horsepower Bridgeport gasoline ... engine.

MOZART'S UNTIMELY END.

Sad Finish of the Career of the Great Musical Genius.

Late hours, unwearying vigils, everlasting labor, the effects of chills, damp and exposure, in the hard life he led—a life alternating between brilliant passages and the most loathsome drudgery, between rosy anticipations of fortune and inevitable and eternal disappointments—had their effects on the vigorous constitution of Mozart. His lamp of life burnt out untimely. While still a young man—only thirty-five years old—he fell into ill health, the symptoms of which were a fitful, restless nervousness, a craving for inordinate excitement and a rapid decay of the physical stamina of his constitution.

Unfortunately for him, in the absence of any strong influence at home which might keep him in the path of duty, he was tempted to seek recreation abroad and fell into the company of a dissipated set of men, haunts of the theaters and taverns of Vienna, the chief spirit of whom was one Schikaneder, a low, coarse man of neither refinement nor talent. In company with this crew the glorious genius, whose critical state of health demanded the utmost care and attention from loving hands, flitted night after night from tavern to tavern in Vienna, deluding himself with vice under the idea that he was gathering the secret spirit of brotherhood for use in his opera, "The Magic Flute," on which he at that time was engaged.—Rowbotham's "Private Life of Great Composers."

Teeth in Their Stomachs.

Whatever it may be that the lobster and the crab, rapacious, never dainty, are eating they always see something else that they want and can't wait until they have masticated the first before attacking the second. But they don't give up the first, not by any manner of means. Nature, humoring this rapacious bent, has fitted the lobster and the crab with teeth in their stomachs, and they swallow their half masticated food and finish the chewing process with their stomachs while they seize and chew the other thing that has attracted them. Lobsters and crabs have no teeth in their mouths. They chew with their claws what they have time to and hand the unfinished job down to their stomachs to do the rest of the chewing.

A Useful Remedy.

Little four-year-old Billy was visiting his neighbor, Jerry. Billy showed every evidence of a bad cold. Jerry's mother asked with grave solicitude, "Doesn't your mother give you anything for your cold, Billy?" whereupon Billy answered, feeling in all his pockets at once, "Yes, ma'am; she gives me a clean handkerchief."—Lippincott's.
